

RECEPTION CLASS ON THE NATURE TRAIL

Every week, the Reception class aim to visit the Cambridge University Botanic Gardens to look at the seasonal changes, plants and animals. We only need to stroll a few metres down the road, as we are situated right next door! Recently, we spent a wintry afternoon looking for some signs of Spring. We found the first snowdrops, daffodils and shoots and compared the evergreen trees with the deciduous ones, especially the fir tree laden with enormous cones! We also looked at the shapes of the bare branches, ready for our next art lesson.
